The course

This is a one-to-one programme

Our Aim

The overall aim of the course is to develop your interpersonal skills in English, so that you can talk to anyone about a range of subjects. This course is developed to focus on speaking and listening. In business, deep and meaningful relationships are built through conversation and finding common ground. Consequently, your colleagues are more likely to trust you, your opinion and trust you to do a good job. On the course, you will hold discussions with other members of my team over lunch, drinks at the pub and an evening meal. The intention is that you feel free and uninhibited when you speak English no matter to whom you are speaking. In this course, you will build your confidence, overcome the challenges you face so that you can engage in a conversation on any subject and feel equipped to deal with whatever arises.

The cost of the course is £1,850
